Please Note: If you'd like more information about our recommended labels, feel free to get in touch via email or send us a message on Instagram. You can also refer to our Seller's Guide, which includes helpful details on pricing, garment selection, and the labels and quality standards we're able to accept.

For high-end designer pieces that would typically be sold for over $350, we'll also be introducing an individual consignment option — COMING SOON!

In the meantime, please do not include these pieces in your booking unless you're happy to price them below this threshold.
